LEARN ABOUT THE SERVICES YOUR COMMUNITY HAS TO OFFER

Located in the northwest corner of the San Fernando Valley, at the foot of the Santa Susana Pass, the community of Chatsworth has accumulated a long and colorful history. Rich in archeological sites, it was the location of an Indian Village in existence at the time the Valley was discovered in 1769.

Chatsworth got its identity on March 10, 1888 when a subdivision map for the town of Chatsworth Park was filed with the LA County Recorder. The town site was named after the Duke of Devonshire's palatial estate in England. The railroad was completed to Chatsworth in 1893. Chatsworth has served as a gateway to northern California since work on tunnels through the mountains was completed in 1904.

Filmmakers soon discovered Chatsworth as a location to shoot their movies. Chatsworth, with its beautiful scenery has been seen in thousands of movies, TV shows, videos and commercials. Filming continues to this day with dressing rooms and sound trucks a regular fixture on the Chatsworth streets.

Chatsworth today has a very diverse and vibrant business community. Numerous industries are represented in Chatsworth. We boast high-end technical equipment manufacturing, video-production, lawyers, doctors, horse boarding facilities, public relations firms and computer sales and services just to name a few.

Chatsworth is one of the few areas in Los Angeles where you can see horseback riders trotting past industrial complexes on any given day. Chatsworth is a place where the homes are reasonable priced and a place where people can return to the days when you knew the name of your grocer and saw your neighbors on the streets. Chatsworth is a place where a company can have access to all the high-tech services they need in today's economy while satisfying the needs of their employees by offering a community to live in that has characteristics not available anywhere else in Los Angeles.
